“ It's taken me so long to say anything since David passed. I guess maybe h felt as though I had no right to, and maybe I still don't: David and I were good friends in high school. We dated on and off between sophomore through our senior year. I must say that he was a much better person than was; or ever will be. I think of him often and I know that those that he left behind were blessed to know who he really was. Much love and peace to them.
